

Delightfully natural

The lifelike dollmaker's family at work. Visitors can imagine the living conditions of yesteryear so much better, thanks to this realistic portrayal.

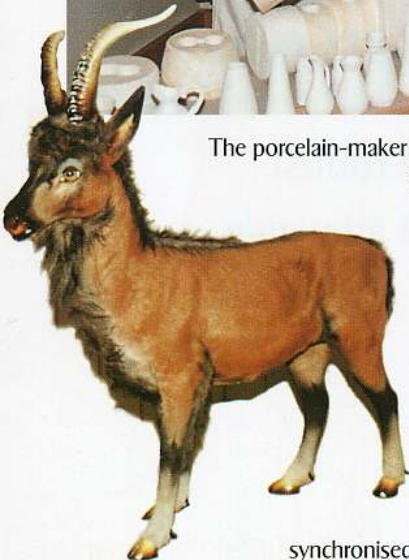

Don Quixote waiting for Sancho Pansa.

The porcelain-maker showing how great-grandmother's heirlooms were made so long ago.

More authenticity is almost impossible. Even the glass actually glows properly. But this particular glass-blower does not cause any wage costs.

We specialise in natural-looking figures. We have over 2000 different models in our depot. We can fulfil the most unusual of wishes thanks to our own modelling studio. The movements appear to be absolutely realistic and bring your establishment to life. We even manage to programme the sounds so that they are synchronised to match the movements of the lips. The technology we use is almost maintenance-free, with sturdy motors, hydraulics and pneumatic systems, combined with the very latest electronic circuitry for extreme durability.
